

Identification of Sediment Sources in the Tributaries of Marion County Park & Lake to Develop Future

Introduction

Water is one of the most valuable resources on earth. Continuous efforts to protect this resource have

Background

Image 1: Aerial photo of stream profile measurements A-1, A-2, and A-3 (labeled with red stars) at Northern access to their 12()-0.47(h)-0.9570d7(h)-0.49(.2()-0.478242()-0.4782T2()167556597(h)-06417028(e)3.15742(1)-973

Image

a) b)

Figure 4:

Figure 3 above shows the particle size of the samples from the Northern Stream along with their distance from

