

Individual Differences in Delay Discounting # 44.064

Background

Delay discounting refers to the decrease in value of a reward the longer it takes to arrive. Choosing between a smaller sooner and a larger later reward depends on delay discounting.

Individual Differences in Reward Delay and Magnitude

Individual Differences in Reward Delay and Magnitude

Reward Contrast

Discrete trials: Small : Lever A inserted
 Large : Lever B inserted

Small Large

Baseline

Reward Contrast

Discrete trials: Small : Lever A inserted
 Large : Lever B inserted

Baseline Phase Small Large

Percentage LL choice

